A Word from Pastor Scott

The Greatest Love

Dear friends of Hope Church,

As we begin this new year of 2025, we are given the opportunity to reflect on the fresh start that a new year brings. It’s a time to set goals, renew our hearts, and realign our lives with God’s purpose. As we approach Valentine’s Day, we are reminded of the greatest love story ever told—the love that Christ has for us, which is the foundation of our faith and our identity in Him.

Galatians 2:20 declares, “I have been crucified with Christ. It is no longer I who live, but Christ lives in me.” This is not just a statement, but a call to live fully in union with Christ—one heartbeat, one purpose, one life that He has given us. In this new year, let us remember that Christ’s love has already made a way for us to start anew. We are invited to live in His love and to reflect His life in all that we do.

When we say we are crucified with Christ, we acknowledge that the same nails that were driven into Jesus on the cross are driven into us. We are called to take up our cross daily, to die to self, and to embrace the new identity we have in Him. “The old life is gone; a new life has begun.” (2 Cor. 5:17b) This is the wonderful truth of the gospel: we are reborn in Christ!

Worship 10 a.m. ■ Sunday School 11:15 a.m.

But the story doesn't end at the cross. Just as Jesus was resurrected, we too rise to new life in Him. We die to sin, but we rise with Christ, empowered by His resurrection. We no longer live for ourselves but live by faith in the Son of God, who loved us so much that He gave His life for us. His love is not just a feeling—it is a transformative power that makes us new and strengthens us each day.

As we reflect on this, we can't help but marvel at the depths of God's love. 1 John 4:10 says, "This is love: not that we loved God, but that He loved us and sent His Son as an atoning sacrifice for our sins." God loved us first, and His love is the ultimate expression of sacrifice. It is the love that gives without expecting in return, a love that makes us righteous before God, not through our works but through the finished work of Jesus on the cross.

In this new year, let us not forget that grace is not cheap. Christ paid the price that we could never pay, fulfilling the law we could never keep. And as we walk in His love, we are reminded of Galatians 3:13: "Christ redeemed us from the curse of the law by becoming a curse for us."

So, as we celebrate Valentine's Day, let us celebrate the love that never fails—the love of Christ that transforms us from the inside out. May we remember that the love we are called to reflect is not just a fleeting emotion, but a sacrificial, eternal love. This year, as we live out our faith, may we do so with a renewed sense of the depth of God's love and grace, living as those who have been crucified with Christ and raised to new life in Him.

With love and blessings,

► Hope Preschool Prattle

Happy New Year from Hope Preschool!

The holidays went much too fast, but the kids and staff had a nice long break and came back to work hard in 2025. Our Pre-K classes are working hard to prepare for their Kindergarten evaluations that are coming up. All the classrooms have been talking about winter and creating beautiful snowflakes, snowmen, mittens and hats. There are penguins waddling through all the hallways and hibernation has been the unit of study for science. They've also been able to enjoy snowball fights and ice skating in the bike room. We are making the best of the cold temps and embracing everything winter has to offer.

The classes have also been busy preparing for the Open House/Art Show that is March 10. The theme this year is "Colors of the Rainbow". Each class chose a color, and all of their projects will reflect that color. One project from each class will be combined to create a beautiful rainbow display reflecting how when we come together, we can create something amazing. Please plan to stop down to admire all their hard work.

With the help of Jim and Jeanette Pitman, and Pastor Scott, we have been able to introduce a music program to our Pre-K classes. On Monday mornings our 4/5 year olds are blessed to participate in the class that will teach them all of the fundamentals of music. The first class was held on January 13 and the children had a really good time learning about rhythm and the song Kum ba yah.

Believe it or not, it is almost time to open registration for the 2025/2026 school year. Our in-house families will be able to start on February 24, and it will open to the public on March 10.

Welcome to 2025. May your year be happy and healthy!

Wild Church

Partnership with Hope Meadow

Here are words to embrace all winterlong, with thanks to Rev. Beth Jones of the Susquehanna Conference who leads Deep Green Journey in the Loyalsock area of Pennsylvania. We shared them at January's Wild Church gathering; may it now focus your contemplation:

The invitation remains, to press
our ears against the bark or the soil,
to slow our breath, our heartbeat.
There is deep work here.

Roots releasing, collecting,
Nurturing quiet beings and
Pathways of green.
Water expanding and contracting,
breathing with the earth, creating space.

Bidding here in the hidden stillness
to sense more than to see the deeper, softer gift rising within.

To sink into the dark earth within
and tend the forgotten places,
creating space for redemption, repair and renewal
in the quiet nursing of life.

Looking ahead -

We'll not gather in Feb but keep alert for an announcement for the March date, to be led by Linda Spotts, and back in daylight time at 5pm.

In April , we'll gather on the 13th – Palm Sunday – to continue walking as followers of Jesus.

May's gathering will be on the 18th.

Our gatherings include reflections, observations, poetry, and your input!

Wild Church is part of a growing movement in which we seek to recover our natural "roots" and take worship outside into our first and greatest sanctuary: creation itself. Our gatherings are not traditional worship services in an outdoor setting, but rather experiences that recognize the natural environment itself as a participant. We learn to identify God's presence and activity in all things.

Recycling

Thank you to all members and friends who continued dropping off recyclable items behind the church garage throughout 2024.

Over 5,000 lbs. of various metals—such as lamps, stoves, TVs, aluminum and steel chairs, cages, fencing, sheet metal, door and window frames, aluminum cans, lawn mowers, electric motors, plumbing fixtures, copper wire, and pipe—were broken down, separated, and taken to Ephrata Recycling on Fulton Street.

In total, these efforts raised nearly $1,100.00, including $175.00 from Facebook Marketplace sales. These funds were used for various purchases supporting the church and WPCM.

Thank you for contributing items and helping turn them into valuable resources!

Important Notes:

- Steel (non-aluminum) food cans are not recyclable through Fulton Recycling—please place them in your own recycling bin.

Suburban Sharpies and Coopers

by Clyde McMillan-Gamber

Over the years, I've seen sharp-shinned hawks and Cooper's hawks in our New Holland neighborhood, which adds excitement to it. These look-alike raptors are closely related and mostly prey on birds. Only size and the ends of their tails distinguish them. Sharpies are blue jay-sized and the ends of their tails are squared. Cooper's are crow-sized and have rounded ends to their tails.

Because they are different sizes, they seek different prey. Sharpies mostly catch sparrow-sized birds, while Coop's go after dove-sized victims. Their catching different kinds of birds reduces competition for food between them, which benefits both these birds of prey.

Sharp-shinned and Cooper's hawks are perfectly built for what they do. Both kinds are stream-lined, which helps in swift, maneuverable flight after panicky, feathered prey. And both have powerful wing muscles, and long tails for steering among tree limbs after their meals.

Sharp-shins have never nested in my neighborhood, but through the years, a few migrated through, or wintered here. One October day, a sharpy perched on a weeping willow tree in our yard and watched for house sparrows to show themselves. But no sparrow did and the hawk moved on to seek prey elsewhere.

In January of another year, a sharp-shin caught a house sparrow in a snowfall and ate it on top of the snow on our back lawn, as the snow continued to fall. With a pair of binoculars, I watched the sharpy dine. Feathers flew away on the wind across the snow cover as the hawk ingested the sparrow. When that raptor finished its meal and flew away, I saw only the sparrow's beak and a foot, both of which quickly became buried in snow. Snow covered everything, as if nothing happened.

Cooper's hawks have raised young in my New Holland neighborhood for years. And they ambush mourning doves, house sparrows, blue jays, other kinds of birds, and gray squirrels at times. Being larger hawks, it's exciting to see them flashing through a suburban neighborhood of taller trees and landing in one of them to watch for doves, starlings and other types of birds. I've seen them diving with great speed after doves, and, over the years, I've witnessed a couple of Coop's catching a dove and landing in a tree with its meal. Feathers float to the ground as the raptor dines. I've also seen Cooper's clambering swiftly through bushes after sparrows, which zip out of the shrubbery and gone to other sheltering bushes.

Created by God, as all life on Earth is, sharp-shinned and Cooper's hawks are perfectly built for what they do to make a living, as all life is. These elegant birds of prey are streamlined, and powerful fliers, to snare fast-flying victims. They are intriguing to experience.
